

Your Employer Brand

attract | engage | retain

TABLE OF CONTENTS

SECTION 1: THE ENVIRONMENT FOR EMPLOYER BRANDING

1) The emergence of employer branding in today's Knowledge economy

The rise in awareness of employer branding
Where does responsibility in an organisation for employer branding lie?
The objectives of employer branding
Workers attitudes to their workplace and their employers
The brands people want to work for Understanding the value of diversity
In the spotlight – General Electric
Employer branding and the public sector

2) The role of employer branding in organisational strategy – Dr Steve Goodman

Employer branding - Improving the organisation's competitive position
The resource based view of strategy
Four conditions for organisational success
(i) Heterogenous organisation
(ii) Capabilities must be rare and have value
(iii) Capabilities must be hard to replicate
(iv) Capabilities must not be easily traded
Planning and control structures
Emergent self organisation

3) The strategic drivers behind the rise in acceptance of the employer brand concept

The ageing global population
Declining birth rates
In the spotlight – Australia
Economic growth
Labor force participation
Migration
Skill shortages

4) Building the business case

The major benefits of developing and implementing an employer brand strategy
The financial benefits
Top management becoming increasingly involved
Pitching the employer brand concept to senior management
In the spotlight – the BASF Corporation
In the spotlight – Southwest Airlines

SECTION 2: BUILDING A LEADING EMPLOYER BRAND

5) Understanding the brand fundamentals – Ron Tomlian

The history of brands
Brands – Where did they come from?
Branding – What is it?
Branding – What's in it for me?
Elements of the brand
Who was that masked man?
Position – Position – Position
Taking care of business

6) Employer attractiveness – Professor Mike Ewing

Advertising's role in creating strong employer brands
Advertising's internal audiences
Towards a typology of employer advertising approaches
Implications for management
Introducing the notion of employer attractiveness
The underlying dimensions of employer attractiveness
 Interest value
 Social value
 Economic value
 Development value
 Application value
Applications for business
Future research directions into studying employer attractiveness

7) Employer brand metrics

Employee engagement
in the spotlight – Australia
Human capital measures
The top 25 levers of engagement
The value of employee research in tracking your employer brand efforts
In the spotlight – Technology organisation – An illustrative HDA case study

8) Employer brand communication and actions

Getting the right message across
Employer brand communication methods
Conveying a brand across cultures
Importance of differentiation
Web technology
Recruitment advertising
In the spotlight – Coca-Cola Amatil

8) Employer Brand Communication And Actions (cont.)

The strategic employment brand in action – a holistic approach to living the employer brand

The firm-employee relationship cycle

First contact

The dating game

Proposal

Marriage

Maintaining the passion

Anniversary

9) Employer Brand Excellence Framework™

Employer Value Proposition

Defining the Employer Value Proposition

Employer Brand identity

Employer Brand Employee Platform™

- Recruitment and induction
- Compensation and benefits
- Career development
- Employee research
- Reward and recognition
- Communication systems
- Work environment

Employer Brand Strategic Platform™

- Mission, vision, and values
- Social corporate responsibility
- Leadership
- Culture & Corporate reputation
- People management policies and practices
- Performance management
- Innovation

The Corporate brand

Market forces

Customers

Prospective employees

Stakeholders

8 steps to developing an employer brand

10) The future for employer branding

SECTION 3: EMPLOYER BRAND CASE STUDIES

Thomas Cook

Bank SA

The Compass Group

SECTION 4: EMPLOYER BRAND EXCELLENCE SCORECARDS™

Worksheets

Your Employer Brand

attract | engage | retain